Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, 2007

At 3:30 PM –

Dr. John N. Johnson

Topic: The History of Corinth and Paul's Second Journey

John N. Johnson, Ph.D., President of the CAPS Board

<http://www.nwcreation.net/caps/articles/reflectionsonlife.html>

John N. Johnson (johnson@nwcreation.net), has a Ph.D. in Applied Mathematics from the University of California at Berkeley. He has retired from the Boeing Company, where he was a mathematician developing computer algorithms for navigation, guidance and control for 31 years. He has also taught academic classes for over 20 years in creation science and Biblical archaeology, and has defended creation science in five college debates with evolutionist faculty as well as on radio programs.

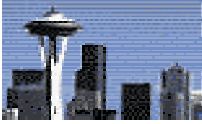

Pavement Laid about AD 50 by Erastus a Corinthian Roman official (Latin: aedile) likely the high official (Greek: oikonomos) named Erastus mentioned by Paul (Romans 16:23, written from Corinth)

St. Paul, El Greco, 1614

He will illustrate the history, architecture and archaeology of Corinth from the Eighth Century BC to the founding of modern Greece in 1822, but focus about AD 50, when the Apostle Paul first visited Corinth for 18 months. He will also review all the cities from Paul's entire Second Missionary journey, especially Philippi and Athens.

Archaeology Note

Gallio's proconsulship in Achaia is dated to A.D. 51-52 from an inscription discovered at Delphi. This confirms Acts 18:12 "But when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews rose up together against Paul and brought him to the tribunal."
